Upgrade Reason

From the application perspective, the Hydro Raindrop version update is in good condition and the download volume has reached 1,000 and more. In terms of development, the project performance is good. The API of Hydro's second phase, called Snowflake, and smart contracts have been deployed and are now available for use. As for the project management, Hydro has enriched its roadmap, by setting a clear time frame for its six development stages, and describing the project management in detail on the technical structure. Regarding the token economy, the blockade of the HYDRO is in line with the lock-up plan disclosed by the project. In summary, TokenInsight's rating for Hydro has been upgraded from CC to CCC, with a stable outlook.

Current stage

From a total of six stages, Hydro has entered the second one, Snowflake. Snowflake is based on the Raindrop authorization verification system and has realized the personal authentication protocol application.
